

*A spectacular opening to the season!
The Rogue continues to delight, impress,
and intrigue.*

—Laura K., audience member

We loved it. Friends loved it. Hey! I went to my book club this morning and people there were talking about it...

—Arla A., audience member

If you believe the best kind of theater is both entertaining and thoughtful in the most substantial way, then The Rogue Theatre has a play for you!

THE Rogue
THEATRE

10th Anniversary Season
2014–2015

Great literature.
Challenging ideas.
Intimate setting.

Thoroughly engaging.
Wildly entertaining.
Profoundly provocative.

—Arizona Daily Star

10th Anniversary Season 2014–2015

AWAKE AND SING!

by Clifford Odets

September 11–28, 2014

Production Sponsors: Ward & Judy Wallingford

Regarded by many as Odets' best play, Awake and Sing! centers on the lives of a troubled urban family during the Great Depression.

JERUSALEM

by Jez Butterworth

November 6–23, 2014

Production Sponsors: John & Joyce Ambruster

A deeply resonant and poetic play set in rural England with a powerful Pan-like central figure.

Waiting for Godot

by Samuel Beckett

January 8–25, 2015

In one of the greatest plays of the 20th century, two figures wait for a vague entity named Godot.

THE LADY IN THE LOOKING GLASS

adapted from short stories
by Virginia Woolf

February 26–March 15, 2015

Production Sponsors: Ann & Nils Hasselmo

A collection of seven delicate short stories in which worlds are discovered in simple moments.

The Merchant of Venice

by William Shakespeare

April 30–May 17, 2015

One of Shakespeare's more disturbing characters, Shylock, sits amidst an ebullient romantic comedy.

Once again The Rogue Theatre brings us one of Shakespeare's truly fascinating plays, with fine acting by the dedicated group Arizona should be very proud of and devoted to supporting.
