Director and Adaptor’s Notes

“For a party makes things either much more real or much less real.”

--- The New Dress by Virginia Woolf

Many of us probably know a few things about Virginia Woolf—she was part of the influential Bloomsbury group of intellectuals between the World Wars, she wrote A Room of One’s Own—a treatise on the importance of independence for women, she had a love affair with a woman named Vita Sackville-West, and she died by suicide.

There’s actually a lot the world knows about Virginia Woolf, since she maintained a diary for most of her adult life, which now comprises a 5-volume set of over 2,000 pages. And because of her status among artists of her time, she was frequently painted and photographed. And there have been dozens and dozens of books written about her, especially since the women’s movement of the 1960s and 70s.

Woolf experimented with the narrative mode of “stream of consciousness.” Consciousness is at the core of Mrs Dalloway—the way our minds follow various paths throughout our days mixing the past and the future with the present. Although Mrs Dalloway takes place on a single day in June 1923 in London, the characters’ minds traverse over 30 years and dozens of locations. And the progression through the novel (and through our play) is more like moving from image to image rather than from event to event. Mrs Dalloway is a meditation on life and death, on sanity, on growing old, on love, and yes, on consciousness.

Mrs Dalloway was originally titled The Hours in its early drafts. Throughout the novel (and our play), the hours of the day are noted by Big Ben’s chimes—“first the warning musical, then the hour, irrevocable.”

One has a sense in Mrs Dalloway of the interconnectedness of the characters. Clarissa Dalloway happens to see an open book in a shop window—Shakespeare’s play, Cymbeline. The passage she reads is “Fear no more the heat o’ the sun, Nor the furious winter’s rages.” It’s a lovely thought: in death, one is no longer subject to the vagaries of life. Clarissa repeats this line—“Fear no more the heat of the sun”—and then later in the novel, Septimus Warren-Smith picks up the phrase.

I fell in love with Virginia Woolf’s writing over 40 years ago, when I was a student at Eastern Michigan University. A professor suggested I read Woolf’s short stories and I was completely captivated by her imagery, her wit, and her understanding of the way the mind works. My love of Woolf’s writing has only increased over the years. Seven years ago, The Rogue performed another adaptation of mine called The Lady in the Looking Glass, featuring several Virginia Woolf stories. And in 2009, we produced Sarah Ruhl’s adaptation of Orlando—Virginia Woolf’s novel and love letter to Vita Sackville-West. So when I heard that Mrs Dalloway had entered public domain, I knew I wanted to try to create an adaptation for The Rogue stage.

If you’ve been to The Rogue at all, you know that we love staging great literature—sometimes in the form of great plays, but often in the form of great novels and short stories. We feel that beautiful language that is worth reading silently, is worth being heard aloud. In fact, the creative possibilities of staging in the theatre can make narrative fiction come alive like no other medium can. We’re always asked to use our imaginations when we come to the theatre, so why not create the world of a novel on stage and use our imaginations to complete the picture?

Adapting Mrs Dalloway to the stage came with some challenges. The novel contains very little dialogue. Generally speaking, most plays are entirely dialogue. But most of the text of Mrs Dalloway is narrative. So, as the adaptor, I made the decision to turn most of the narrative into first person, shared by several individuals, each describing their thoughts, actions, and memories from their point of view.

I also chose to emphasize certain themes, suggested by Woolf—life and death, sanity and insanity, the British social system at work. I was struck by the frequency of memory, the importance of love, the fullblility of the characters throughout the novel. I was also fascinated by the frequent references to the interconnectedness of being. Characters are described as being connected by a spider’s thread to one another; Clarissa throws her party so that she can create connections between people. Peter Walsh recalls what he describes as Clarissa’s “transcendental theory,” in which “our apparitions—the part of us which appears—are so momentary compared with the unseen part of us, which spreads wide, the unseen might survive in being to another person, or even haunting certain places after death.”

I also wanted to maintain as much of the poetry of Woolf’s writing as I possibly could. The script is 98% completely Woolf’s words.

In many ways, the cast of Mrs Dalloway are co-creators of the adaptation and without their creativity and insights, the play would be something much less. Together they play over 60 characters. I want to especially acknowledge the support of Matt Bowdren as Assistant Director. His extraordinary ability to work with actors on finding the emotional core in scenes, as well as his creativity in staging, have added significantly to this production.

I encourage you not to expect a traditional play as you watch The Rogue’s Mrs Dalloway. Some of you may even decide that it’s not a play at all. I might agree with you. The performance you are about to watch is a rendering of Virginia Woolf’s Mrs Dalloway with music, human bodies, characters, theatrical device, and gorgeous language.

Music Director’s Notes

Composing the music for Mrs Dalloway allowed me to explore just how complimentary Virginia Woolf’s stream-of-consciousness narrative style and music can be. As Clarissa Dalloway drifts between memories and daydreams, the music helps to establish the settings and relationships she has with the other characters.

Most of the compositions and underscores are based on original themes which are improvised upon to accompany the actions and motivations of the characters on stage. One prominent exception is the choice to utilize Erik Satie’s set of pieces (Gnossiennes) for the character, Septimus. Satie, a contemporary of Woolf, is also considered a modernist, and his free-flowing compositional style complements that of Woolf’s.

Biographies

Julia Balestracci (Miss Pym) is thrilled to join the cast of Mrs Dalloway in her fourth Rogue production. She was previously seen as The Woman in Death of a Salesman, Audrey in As You Like It and Clytemnestra in The Oresteia, and has also appeared in The Rogue’s Ambruster play reading series. In past seasons, she has performed with The Scoundrel and Scamp Theatre in The Light Princess, The Little Prince, Blood Wedding, Eurydice, and Mr. Burns, a Post-Electric Play, and most recently in the play reading Before the German’s Here, a collaboration with the American Literary Translators Association (ALTA). Julia has a M.M. in voice from Longy School of Music of Bard College, and a BA in Theater Studies from Eugene Lang College of Liberal Arts at The New School. Julia Balestracci’s performance is supported in part by a generous gift from Lori Levine & Gary Benna.

Bryn Booth (Sally Seton/Elizabeth Dalloway) is a graduate of the BFA Acting program at the University of Arizona. She was most recently seen in Passage, Death of a Salesman, Twelfth Night, The Awakening, As You Like It, The Oresteia, Mary Shelley’s Frankenstein and A View from the Bridge. This is Bryn’s fifth season as a member of the Resident Acting Ensemble with The Rogue. She was a Mac Award Nominee for Best Actress for her performance in The Crucible. In 2018, Bryn played Mag in the Scoundrel & Scamp’s production of Lovers (Mac Award Nominee for Best Actress). Other credits include The Love Talker (Scoundrel & Scamp), Romeo & Juliet (Tucson Shakespeare in the Park), and Othello (Arizona Repertory Theatre). She also had the pleasure of understudying with Arizona Theatre Company in Romeo & Juliet and Of Mice and Men. Bryn wants to thank Joe and Cindy for giving her the best job she’s ever had with the most amazing people she’s ever met. Bryn Booth’s performance is supported in part by generous gifts from Shawn Burke and Lori Levine & Gary Benna.

Chelsea Bowdren (Miss Kilman) is thrilled to be in her third Rogue show this season, after last appearing as Jenny/Miss Forsyte in Death of a Salesman and Maria in Twelfth Night. Her Rogue Theatre stage debut was many years ago, as Rosalind in Immortal Longings. Chelsea received her BFA in Acting from the University of Arizona and performed in Taming of the Shrew, Diary of Anne Frank, Love’s Labour’s Lost, Medea, & Titus Andronicus as a member of Arizona Repertory Theatre. After exploring for a couple years, she’s ecstatic to be back in Tucson and back in theatre. For Archer & Eloise. Chelsea Bowdren’s performance is supported in part by a generous gift from Stu Salasche & Els Duvigneau.

Matt Bowdren (Dr. Holmes) is an Artistic Associate for The Rogue Theatre. Matt has performed in many plays at the Rogue including Hamlet (2015 Mac Award for Best Actor), The Crucible, Waiting for Godot, Uncle Vanya, As I Lay Dying, and The Goat. Earlier this season Matt directed Death of a Salesman at the Rogue. Previous Rogue directing credits include Macbeth and Angels in America. Other Arizona credits include Romeo and Juliet with Southwest Shakespeare and Frankenstein and Othello as a faculty fellow and teaching artist with The Arizona Repertory Theatre. Matt currently lives in Chicago. Recent credits include plays with TimeLine and The Shakespeare Project of Chicago, and feature films The Lot and Happily Never After. He also directed the inaugural production for The Story Theatre (Best New Chicago Theatre 2021) of which he is a founding member. Matt holds an M.F.A. in Performance from the University of Georgia. Matt Bowdren’s performance is supported in part by generous gifts from Todd Hansen and Bill & Barb Dantzler.

Hunter Hnat (Jim Hutton) is grateful to be in his fourth season as a member of The Rogue Resident Acting Ensemble. You may have seen him recently in Rogue productions of Passage, Death of a Salesman, Twelfth Night, The Awakening, As You Like It, The Weir, The Oresteia, Mary Shelley’s Frankenstein, and A View from the Bridge. Other credits include Salomé (Scoundrel & Scamp), U/S in Romeo and Juliet (Arizona Theatre Company), and How the House Burned Down (Live Theatre Workshop). He is a U of A alum with his BFA in Musical Theatre, class of 2015. Enjoy the show! Hunter Hnat’s performance is supported in part by generous gifts from Ed & Nancy Landes and Paul Winick & Ronda Lustman.

Cynthia Jeffery (Clarissa Dalloway) has been a resident of both Hawaii and Arizona for 35 years. She has previously performed with The Rogue Theatre in The New Electric Ballroom, Richard III, The Lady in the Looking Glass and the staged reading of No Exit. In Hawaii, Cynthia co-owned and operated Wide Eyed Theatre. She earned 4 Tiki Awards for Best Actress in The Hilo Community Players’s A Streetcar Named Desire, Macbeth, Crimes of the Heart and Beyond Therapy. In Tucson, she received the Carmen Awards for The Little Foxes and The Big Meal and won LTW’s Best Performance recognition for The Glass Menagerie. Cynthia also received MAC nominations for Relatively Speaking, No Exit, The Subject was Roses, The Little Foxes, and The Big Meal. Her performance credits include Collected Stories, The Birthday Party, Humble Boy, The Beauty Queen of Leenane, Gloria: A Life, The Busy World is Hushed, A Kid Like Jake, An Empty Plate in the Café du Grand Beouf and Cat on a Hot Tin Roof. Cynthia Jeffery’s performance is supported in part by generous gifts from Todd Hansen and Julia Annas.
Christopher Johnson (Septimus Warren Smith) first came to The Rogue in 2011 to play Jewel in As I Lay Dying and now serves as Assistant Artistic Director, Play-Reading Producer, and Board Member. Select acting credits include Joshua in Corpus Christi, Peter in Bug, The Emcee in Cabaret (2013 Mac Award Winner—Best Actor), Doug in Gruesome Playground Injuries, The Narrator in The Rocky Horror Show, Alan in Lemon Sky, Betty/Gerry in Cloud 9, Pale in Burn This, Hedwig in Hedwig and the Angry Inch (2009 & 2014), Chicklet in Psycho Beach Party, Thom Pain in Thom Pain (based on nothing), Danny in Danny and the Deep Blue Sea, and Prior Walter in The Rogue’s production of Angels in America, Part 1: Millennium Approaches (2016 Mac Award Winner—Best Actor). In addition to acting for The Rogue, he has also directed, adapted, and served as stage manager for both full productions and play-readings. Christopher Johnson’s performance is supported in part by generous gifts from Art & Katherine Jacobson and Maura Brackett.

Michael Levin (Richard Dalloway) is excited to be making his second appearance on The Rogue stage, having previously appeared as Sir Toby Belch in Twelfth Night. Michael taught theatre at Flagstaff Arts and Leadership Academy for 24 years where he directed over two hundred productions. He has performed with Flagstaff Shakespeare Festival, Cleveland Public Theatre, Talespinner Children’s Theatre, Oak Creek Theatre Company and Theatrikos. Michael is in his first year of teaching third grade at Leman Academy of Excellence. He would like to thank Cindy and Joe for leading the charge of putting inspirational people in the room and producing profound rehearsals. Michael Levin’s performance is supported in part by a generous gift from Denice Blake & John Blackwell.

Joseph McGrath (Peter Walsh) is a graduate of the Juilliard School of Drama and Co-Founder and Artistic Director for The Rogue Theatre. He has recently appeared in Passage, Death of a Salesman, Twelfth Night, The Awakening, As You Like It, The Weir, A View from the Bridge, Moby Dick, Long Day’s Journey Into Night, Galileo (2018 Mac Award for Best Actor), and King Lear. He received the Mac Award for his portrayal of Tobias in A Delicate Balance. Joe has toured with John Houseman’s Acting Company and has performed with the Utah Shakespearean Festival. He has also been a frequent performer with Ballet Tucson. He has also performed with Arizona Theatre Company, Arizona Opera, and Arizona Onstage. Joe owns, with his wife Regina Gagliano, Sonora Theatre Works, which produces theatrical scenery and draperies. Joseph McGrath’s performance is supported in part by generous gifts from Barbara & Gerald Goldberg and Liz Whitaker.

Tyler Page (Hugh Whitbread) is thrilled to be returning to The Rogue Theatre stage this season after first appearing as Feste in Twelfth Night and Bernard in Death of a Salesman. Tyler has a BFA in Acting from the Oregon Center for the Arts at Southern Oregon University and will be beginning his MFA in Acting this fall at Northern Illinois University. Some of Tyler’s other credits include Titus Andronicus, Angels in America, Hayfever, If/Then, Godspell, The Farnsworth Invention, The Mystery of Edwin Drood, You Can’t Take It With You, The Laramie Project, Les Misérables, Spamalot, Almost, Maine and Hedda Gabler. Tyler would like to thank the entire Rogue Theatre family for making such a wonderful home here in Tucson, and his family for supporting him in pursuit of his passions. Tyler Page’s performance is supported in part by a generous gift from Brock & Chantal McCaman.

Carley Elizabeth Preston (Lucrezia) is now in her third season as a member of The Rogue Theatre’s Resident Acting Ensemble. She has appeared in Passage, Twelfth Night, The Awakening, As You Like It, The Weir, A View from the Bridge, Blithe Spirit, and The Crucible. Carley received her BFA from the University of Arizona. Some of her other credits include Time Stands Still (Mac Award for Best Actress), Molly Sweeney, Enchanted April (Live Theatre Workshop), Mrs. Mannerly (Mac Award Nominee for Best Actress), Boston Marriage, By the Bog of Cats, Miracle on 34th Street (Mac Award Nominee for Best Actress), Kimberly Akimo, and Good People. She would like to thank the loves of her life, Jerrad McMurrich and their fur babies Loki Bjorn Hiddleston and Freja Laveau for supporting her theatre habit! Carley Elizabeth Preston’s performance is supported in part by generous gifts from Julia Annas and Adam Hostetter & Jim Wilson.

Teri Lee Thomas (Lady Bruton) is delighted to make her second appearance on The Rogue stage, having previously appeared in The Awakening. Her acting career highlights include Titania in A Midsummer Night’s Dream, Gertrude in Hamlet, Mistress Page in The Merry Wives of Windsor, Margaret in Much Ado About Nothing, Lady Bracknell in The Importance of Being Earnest, Mrs. Hardcastle in She Stoops to Conquer, the title role in Shaw’s Candida, Creon in Oedipus the King, and Countess de Lage in The Women. Her favorite role was Josie in A Moon for the Misbegotten. Some of the theater companies she has worked with include Village Theatre, Taproot Theatre, Seattle Children’s Theatre, Texas Shakespeare Festival, Seattle Shakespeare, Oregon Repertory Theatre, Montana Shakespeare, Seattle Gilbert & Sullivan, SecondStory Rep and TV’s Northern Exposure. Up next: Emma Goldman in Ragtime in Seattle, and Three Busy Debras on HBO. Teri Lee Thomas’ performance is supported in part by a generous gift from Peggy Houghton & Paul Garner.
Cynthia Meier (Director and Adaptor) is Co-Founder and Managing & Associate Artistic Director for The Rogue Theatre and holds a Ph.D. in Performance Studies from the University of Arizona. She has directed 39 of The Rogue’s 84 productions to date including The Secret in the Wings, The Curious Incident of the Dog in the Night-Time, Galileo, Bach at Leipzig, The White Snake, Hamlet, Waiting for Godot, Betrayal, Naga Mandala, and The Four of Us for which she received Arizona Daily Star Mac Award nominations as Best Director, as well as Arcadia and Richard III for which she won Mac Awards for Direction. Cynthia has created stage adaptations of Thornton Wilder’s The Bridge of San Luis Rey, Virginia Woolf’s The Lady in the Looking Glass, James Joyce’s The Dead, Kafka’s Metamorphosis, F. Scott Fitzgerald’s Tales of the Jazz Age, and (along with Holly Griffith) Moby Dick. She is co-founder of Bloodhut Productions, a company performing original monologues and comedy improvisation, which toured throughout the western United States. Cynthia has also been nominated for nine Mac Awards for Best Actress from the Arizona Daily Star, and in 2008, she received the Mac Award for Best Actress for her performance of Stevie in Edward Albee’s The Goat at The Rogue Theatre. Cynthia Meier’s direction and adaptation of Mrs Dalloway is supported in part by generous gifts from Clay Shirk and Karen DeLay & Bill Sandel.

Russell Ronnebaum (Music Director, Pianist, Composer) serves as The Rogue Theatre’s Director of Music and Resident Composer. He holds a Master of Music degree in collaborative piano from the University of Arizona where he studied under Dr. Paula Fan. He currently serves as the assistant director of music at St. Mark the Evangelist Catholic Church in Oro Valley, as well as the staff accompanist for the Tucson Masterworks Chorale. Russell has performed with the Tucson Symphony Orchestra, the American Wind Symphony Orchestra, Artifact Dance Company, Arizona Repertory Theatre, and as a concerto soloist with the Tucson Masterworks Chorale. Russell made his Carnegie Hall debut in 2016 performing the music of composer Dan Forrest. Past credits for The Rogue include Passage, Death of a Salesman, Twelfth Night, The Awakening, As You Like It, The Weir, The Oresteia, Mary Shelley’s Frankenstein, A View from the Bridge, The Beauty Queen of Leenane, Moby Dick, Blithe Spirit, Long Day’s Journey Into Night, Much Ado About Nothing and The Secret in the Wings. Recent composition commissions and premieres include music for live theatre, strings, voice, choir, and piano.
